PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

June has arrived and maybe the rain will stop.

May and June are especially busy months for the Veteran community with Armed Forces Day, Memorial Day, Flag Day and the Army's 250th Birthday all falling during those few weeks.

The membership meeting held at Liberatore's in Bei Air on May 28, featuring Delegate Mike Griffith District 35A (Harford and Cecil Counties), was a great success. Del Griffith presented an overview of legislation passed by the Legislature that impacts veterans. He also discussed bills that were not passed.

Ted Newing and I had the honor of representing the chapter at the Memorial Day celebration at Shamrock Park in Bel Air. The guest speaker was BG W. Bochat, Commanding General of the 20th CBRNE at APG. Keith Reagan attended the ceremony in Havre de Grace where the guest speaker was MG Jim Turinetti, Commanding General of CECOM. Both speakers reminded us that "Freedom is Not Free".

June 14th is the 250th anniversary of the founding of the United States Army, our oldest armed service. The Army Goes Rolling Along. There will be several celebrations around Harford County too numerous to detail here, but there will be public announcements with times and locations. I urge everyone to come out and celebrate the Army's Birthday.

Our next general membership meeting will be on July 9 at MacGregor's Restaurant in Havre de Grace. The guest speaker will be MG Birkhead, Maryland's Adjutant General. Please plan to attend. Visit the Chapter website to secure your reservation.

Planning has begun on the Chapter picnic to be held on September 13 at the Ruggles Golf Course Club House. Hope to see you there.

One last item. Frank King, our esteemed Treasurer and Poster and Essay Contest coordinator has been selected as General Counsel to the Secretary of the Army and has already assumed those duties in the Pentagon. Good luck, Frank. You will be sorely missed.

Never Stop Serving,

NATIONAL NEWS

Senate Hearing Spotlights MOAA-Backed Bill to Support Veteran Caregivers

By: Terry Waters

A recent Senate Veterans' Affairs Committee hearing highlighted growing interest in a MOAA-supported proposal designed to provide critical transitional support for military caregivers.

The committee reviewed and discussed the Veteran Caregiver Reeducation, Reemployment, and Retirement (3R) Act alongside other legislation in a May 21 meeting, which featured testimony from the VA and various veterans service organizations (VSOs), including MOAA. [TAKE ACTION NOW: Urge Your Lawmakers to Pass the Veteran Caregiver Reeducation, Reemployment, and Retirement Act]

"Despite their vital role, caregivers face significant financial, professional, and emotional burdens," MOAA told the committee in written testimony. "Many forgo careers, retirement savings, and personal well-being to provide care." The 3R Act addresses key concerns raised by caregivers transitioning out of the VA's Program of Comprehensive Assistance for Family Caregivers (PCAFC), including job reentry, retirement planning, health care access, and financial stability. These caregivers often sacrifice income, career advancement, and long-term financial security to care for their loved ones ... and are met with significant gaps in support.

The bill proposes a comprehensive package of support tools, such as job training assistance, counseling, continued health care coverage, and help with professional relicensing costs, all aimed at easing the shift into post-caregiving life.

What's Next

With congressional interest building, the 3R Act represents an opportunity to ensure caregivers are recognized and supported long after their caregiving duties conclude. As this legislation progresses, MOAA continues to work closely with lawmakers to ensure the bill's provisions reflect the real needs of military families.

"By offering education, employment, and retirement opportunities, the act would empower caregivers to achieve financial security while potentially reducing the federal government's long-term economic burden by decreasing their future reliance on government assistance programs," MOAA told the committee in written testimony.

What's Next for the Budget, the NDAA, and More From Congress

By: Terry Waters The historic trillion-dollar defense budget proposal marked an initial step in a lengthy appropriation and authorization process, one that will serve as the backbone for funding critical programs and services that support our nation's uniformed services and veteran communities.

As Congress makes headway on the FY 2026 budget, it's essential to know where we are in the annual process, both for the overall funding bill and for measures like the annual National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA), which often serves as a vehicle for key MOAA legislative priorities. Here's a look at the overall timeline:

The Beacon

June 2025

The President's Budget Proposal: The process begins with the president's budget request, usually released in February or March, which outlines proposed funding levels for all government agencies. It's not uncommon for this request to be delayed during the first year of a presidential term and new Congress; this year's so-called "skinny" budget request was announced May 2.

Congressional Budget Resolution: After receiving the president's request, Congress creates a budget resolution, which sets the overall spending limits for the government. This resolution acts as a framework for future spending decisions, specifying how much money should be allocated for defense and non-defense programs, including military personnel, benefits, and VA health care.

Authorization Bills: Once the budget resolution is in place, Congress begins working on authorization bills, like the NDAA. The NDAA authorizes policies, programs, and funding levels for defense-related programs, ranging from military readiness and modernization to benefits for military families and survivors. It often incorporates many pieces of defense-related legislation, making it a useful vehicle to advance MOAA-supported bills and priorities, as evidenced by last year's "quality-of-life" NDAA.

Appropriations Bills: While the NDAA sets policy, appropriations bills, such as the Defense Appropriations Act and the Military Construction, Veteran Affairs, and Related Agencies (MilCon-VA) Act provide the funding to implement those policies. Appropriations bills must be passed by both chambers of Congress and signed into law by the president before agencies can access the funding.

Where Do Things Stand for FY 2026?

We can expect a more detailed budget request from the administration in the coming weeks. This will act as an essential input for Congress and lawmakers in both chambers.

Both the House and Senate are well into the process of shaping the authorization and appropriations bills for FY 2026, with amendments from advocates and constituents now under review in committees and subcommittees.

Each chamber has passed its own budget resolution. While they haven't been reconciled, they are crucial to guiding ongoing budget negotiations. More detailed legislation – known as a reconciliation bill, in conjunction with the initial resolution – passed House by a 215-214 vote early May 22 and will move to the Senate, where leaders reportedly hope to have a vote before the July 4 holiday.

While the NDAA and other authorization bills were passed and signed into law in 2025, they're funded through a full-year continuing resolution enacted to ensure government operations continue without disruption. Despite the challenges associated with continuing resolutions, the practice has become increasingly common.

With a compressed timeline for debating, amending, and reconciling the NDAA this year, there remains a significant risk of further stopgap funding measures.

How Can Advocates Help?

As Congress gets further into the process of shaping the FY 2026 budget, it's critical to stay informed of the latest updates regarding the NDAA and other relevant legislation. You can review MOAA's legislative priorities on our spring Advocacy in Action page. In addition to these issues, MOAA remains fully prepared to adapt our focus and leverage every available resource to ensure promises made to those who serve and have served, along with their families and survivors, are honored.

Grassroots advocacy is critical to determining what will make its way into final authorization and appropriation bills, and lawmakers want to hear what's important to their constituents. To support these efforts, stay up to date with MOAA's advocacy news, and register and take action using the Legislative Action Center.

Help MOAA Protect Student-Veterans: Stop the Repeal of the '90-10 Rule'

By: Kevin Lilley

Instead of maintaining a regulation that's helped keep student-veterans safe from predatory for-profit education sales pitches – putting hard-earned benefits at risk – Congress instead could repeal hard-won protections ... and spend $1.6 billion to do it.

MOAA joined 30 advocacy groups in a May 28 letter to House and Senate leadership urging a "No" vote on ending the so-called "90-10 rule," which mandates for-profit schools receive no more than 90% of their revenue from federal education assistance.

Before a bipartisan 2023 change to this rule ensuring VA and DoD education benefits counted toward federal limits, student-veterans served as "dollar signs in uniform" for unscrupulous schools seeking to land GI bill benefits with often-unfilled promises. [READ THE LETTER | TAKE ACTION: Ask Congress to Keep the 90-10 Rule]

The bipartisan rule helps "ensure quality in higher education programs," the letter states, with the measure serving as "a market viability test to protect taxpayers from artificially propping up a failing college of such low quality that no employer or private-paying student is willing to pay for it."

Repealing the rule would cost $1.6 billion over 10 years, according to a Congressional Budget Office estimate. The regulation would be replaced by a "sector-neutral accountability plan," according to a statement from House Education and Workforce Committee Republicans. In a statement, a representative from Veterans Education Success called it a "high-risk, complicated, and untested model."

Despite the cost and the consequences, the repeal is included in the House budget reconciliation bill, which is now under consideration in the Senate. That chamber may make significant changes to the legislation in the coming weeks, with a vote likely coming before the July 4 holiday. MOAA members and others can help raise the importance of protecting student-veterans with their lawmakers by sending a prewritten message via our Legislative Action Center.

SUSQUEHANNA CHAPTER MOAA:

Susquehanna Chapter, a 501(c)(19) nonprofit organization was affiliated in October 1969 with the Military Officers Association of America (MOAA), formerly TROA. Chapter members live in Harford and Cecil Counties. We promote the MOAA purposes and objectives to foster fraternal relations among retired, active and former officers of the eight uniformed services and the Reserve Components.

The chapter has 60 active members, who are currently serving, former, and retired officers, and their spouses and widows/widowers. Working through the Chapter, we provide assistance to our membership, enabling them to continue to serve their nation and communities, maintain contact with the other services, and enjoy social fellowship with people who share common values of patriotism, honor and selflessness.

Our Chapter helps provide critical grassroots support for MOAA's national legislative agenda. Our benefits are under attack, and MOAA is in the fight to preserve them. Chapter members let their legislators know what's on their minds and open doors for MOAA's legislative team in Washington, D.C. In these difficult times, our chapters are the best way we know to do that.

At the local level we successfully advocated for reduction of Harford County property taxes for retired veterans and reductions of MD State taxes on retired pay for military members and first responders. We sponsored scholarships, engaged Harford County Board of Education to establish a JROTC program, and continue to coordinate community outreach to schools for Veteran Poster essay contests. We coordinated COVID 19 grants for qualifying veterans, volunteered with the Susquehanna Habitat for Humanity, and participate in local veteran memorial activities.
